

Suncoast Hospice House Brookside opens in Palm Harbor

Times staff

In Print: Thursday, October 29, 2009

Suncoast hospice celebrates an official opening

Suncoast Hospice House Brookside, 164 West Lake Road, Palm Harbor, opened its doors to the public Sept. 29 with a dedication ceremony, ribbon cutting, tour and reception. The new residence features more than 50 images by fine art photographer Alan S. Maltz.

The 34,000 square foot hospice house will accommodate 30 patients, with special areas set aside for their family members. The building and grounds are designed to honor the dignity of patients and their families in an atmosphere of peace. Maltz's images play a key role in enhancing Brookside's serene environment with their focus on light, beauty and nature.

"We are so pleased to be able to share Alan Maltz's beautiful work with our patients and their families. His images convey warmth and tranquility — perfect for our lovely new hospice house and its mission," said Pat Lucas, regional director, Suncoast Hospice Houses Woodside and Brookside.

Suncoast Hospice House Brookside will welcome its first patients in November.